Court Watch Intern

Zalika Young, fall intern at Court Watch, is a senior at NC Agriculture & Technical State University. She is a Criminal Justice major from Atlanta, Georgia. While in school she has been active in community service, Criminal Justice Society, and as a captain of the dance team.

After graduation in May 2008, Zalika plans to attend grad school for a Masters in Social Work and to seek employment in the adoption field.

Zalika says, "In observing the programs at Court Watch, it has been upsetting to see the number of men and women who seem to have little or no care for their children and juveniles who have little care for their own lives. It is great that there is a place like Court Watch that serves the community. I am grateful to be a part of that service."
